Fire Rated Fascias

Fire rated fascias are a specialist product used in the fire protection process for mezzanine floors, used in conjunction with either a suspended or MF ceiling they are robust and quick and easy to fit when compared to the more traditional ways of fascia construction.

Manufactured from pre-finished pressed steel they are lined with a one hour minimum fire protection medium such as Promat or Fireline Board.

Fascias are available in a range of finishes from plain galvanised, the most effective option, or alternatively a range of BS4800 standard colours. For the more decorative design they are also available in Pvf2, a polyester powder coated finish.
